Sessions Set For Slowing Atomic Race

Stassen Returning For Talks, Changes In Policy Forecast

WASHINGTON (U)—Harold E. Stassen returns to Washington today for consultations that are expected to bring important new decisions on U. S. policy for negotiations to end the atomic arms race.

One question likely to be decided in the next 10 days is the location and extent of a test area for the "open skies" inspection plan to which the United States might be willing to agree.

Secretary of State Dulles suggested at a news conference Tuesday that such a zone might more easily be carved out in the Arctic regions of Alaska, Northern Canada and Siberia than in populous Eastern Europe with all of its complicated political problems.

Stassen's consultations with Dulles, President Eisenhower and others, it is understood, will be pointed toward decisions by the National Security Council next week on specific positions which Stassen may take when he returns to London. Disarmament negotiations in the United Nations subcommittee there May 27.

The subcommittee recessed its talks yesterday after two months of meetings. In that time, Dulles said, about 15 specific proposals were introduced.

Officials reported the Stassen consultations will bring every phase of the disarmament negotiations under review. Chief interest clearly centers on the possibility that the Western nations and the Russians may agree on some kind of limited inspection and control.

The hope is that after testing on a limited basis, such an agreement could be applied on a broader scale.

Food Poisoning Hits 70 Persons At W. Va. Picnic

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (U)—Thirteen victims of food poisoning at a Clay County school picnic yesterday received overnight treatment in hospitals here, but none was in critical condition.

Attendees said that about 70 adults and children became ill—apparently from tainted meat loaf—at an end-of-classes outing at the Flora Elementary School.

Dr. A. A. Smith advised a mass evacuation to Charleston. Four ambulances from a Clay County hospital and other vehicles made up a caravan for the trip of about 45 miles to five hospitals here.

'Freedom Pilgrims' Arrive In Capital, Police Alerted

WASHINGTON (U)—A "pilgrimage for freedom" brought thousands of "pilgrims," mostly Negroes, to Washington today—the third anniversary of the Supreme Court's ban on race segregation in public schools.

Sponsors estimated 50,000 persons would attend a noon service at the Lincoln Memorial with Senators Douglas (D-Ill.) and Javits (R-N.Y.) and Representatives Powell (D-N.Y.) and Diggs (D-Mich.) among the listed speakers. Powell and Diggs are Negroes.

Although religious aspects of the meeting were stressed by the King of Montgomery, Ala., denied sponsoring group, capital police officers were told by one opposition faction that "civil disturbances and other overt acts" might result.

This warning was telegraphed by Jack Rabbone of Arlington, Va., board chairman of a group calling itself a chapter of De-fenders of State Sovereignty and Individual Liberties.

Hundreds Watch Drama

Rescuers Continue Task To Save Child

MANORVILLE, N. Y.—(U)—Hopes of saving a boy trapped more than 18 hours at the bottom of a 24-foot-deep dry well virtually flickered out today.

A fireman said the boy, alive for hours after he fell in, appeared to be entirely covered with sand. Rescue workers trying to reach the boy by digging a horizontal tunnel were blocked constantly by sand slides.

"I could only see something that looks like a foot," said J. H. Warner, an Eastport fireman, after peering into the well with a searchlight at 11:30 a.m.

"That's the only thing that shows. There was only a clean layer of sand otherwise."

Warner, one of the hundreds of rescue workers who had been on the job through the night, said he had looked into the well at 9:30 o'clock last night and at that time could see the red jacket of the boy, Benjamin Hooper, 7.

Workers who had dug a wide parallel vertical shaft attempted to work horizontally toward the boy by installing a tunnel of culvert pipes. But sand slides held up progress toward the boy.

Dr. J. H. Kris, supervising the pumping of oxygen into the well, said "it's possible but very improbable that the boy is still alive."

For hours after he tumbled into the shaft while playing at 7:30 last night, he talked with his father and rescue crews. Then at 2 o'clock this morning came silence that could have meant sleep—or suffocation.

Hundreds of persons gathered in this central Long Island village to lend a hand in whatever way possible.

The well shaft was too narrow—three feet in diameter at the top and tapering to a few inches at the bottom—to permit rescuers to descend.

A parallel shaft was dug and then a horizontal connecting tunnel was started.

The boy tumbled feet first into the well only five minutes after his father, a truck driver for the Brookhaven Town Highway Department, had finished digging it. There was no water in it.

Hooper had sunk the hole and had hit hard earth at the bottom. He was preparing to get pipe to sink into the hole when the boy, playing with another youth, jumped into the pile of earth beside the hole and slid into the pit.

Unable to reach the boy, he called help.

Before long, 400 persons had gathered. Fire departments from Manorville, Eastport, Center Moriches and Riverhead sent rescue equipment and ambulances.

Bag Snatcher Makes Error

WINTON, England (U)—A purse-snatcher escaped with Mrs. M. J. Winton's handbag, containing 5 pounds ($14). A bag in her other hand, which the thief missed, held a 250-pound ($700) payroll for workers at her store.

Solons Battle Move To Kill Off Soil Bank

WASHINGTON (U)—Senators Aiken (R-Vt.) and Young (R-N.D.) said today they expect the Senate to reject a House effort to kill off the soil bank farm plan.

And Sen. Russell (D-Ga.), chairman of the Senate subcommittee which will handle the House-passed Agriculture Department money bill, commented that "I am not going to rush this bill to the Senate." The House, by a 192-187 vote, wrote into the measure a ban on money for acreage reserve payments to farmers after this year.

Aiken, a strong supporter of most administration farm policies, said he doubts that the Senate would want "to kill the soil bank by cutting off its funds after a congressional commitment."

"The acreage reserve was intended as a temporary four-year experiment to reduce surplus production," he said in an interview. "The House move to end it before a real trial was on a very close vote."

Coal Production Shows Increase

WASHINGTON (U)—The National Coal Assn. said today that coal production for the week ended May 11 totaled about 9,650,000 tons, slightly higher than the 9,620,000 tons dug in the week ended May 4.

Production for the corresponding period in 1956 was 9,850,000 tons.

Production Jan. 1 through May 11 was estimated at about 183,869,000 tons against 188,533,000 tons a year ago.

Flood Peril Rises After Heavy Rain

Tornadoes Batter Many Areas, Death Toll Rises To 27

By The Associated Press
Flood dangers appeared increasing in wide areas of Oklahoma and Kansas today after two days of torrential rains and no indication of an immediate letup in the downpours.

The stormy weather that battered the plains states again yesterday, hitting hardest in Oklahoma and Kansas after striking areas in Texas, spread into parts of the Mississippi Valley early today. Thunderstorms, hail and heavy rains were reported. Several funnel clouds were sighted and tornado winds lashed many areas.

Many Streams Overflow
Deaths in tornadoes in Texas and drownings in Oklahoma and Kansas since Wednesday night mounted to 27.

Many streams were reported overflowing and others nearing flood stage in Oklahoma and Kansas. Seven deaths have been attributed to floods in Oklahoma and one in Kansas.

"Very serious" flooding was expected along the middle and lower reaches of the Cimarron River in northern Oklahoma. All communities and residents along the river have been alerted of possible flooding.

Heavy rain in the eastern half of Kansas brought flood warnings from Weather Bureau forecasters. Light to moderate flooding was indicated, they said, after heavy rains over the watershed of the Little Arkansas River, from Sedgewick southward into Wichita.

The heavy wet belt extended across areas in Oklahoma, Nebraska, Kansas, South Dakota and Missouri, with amounts of more than 5 inches in some places.

Snow Hits Two States
Meanwhile, areas in Colorado and Wyoming were digging out from a spring snow storm that dumped up to 2 feet of snow in mountain areas. However, rising temperatures brought a quick runoff of the snowfall, threatening snow and rock slides along mountain highways. Snowfall at Cheyenne, Wyo., measured 7 inches.

More Showers Stated In Oklahoma States

OKLAHOMA CITY (U)—Flooding described as "very serious" is expected today along the middle and lower reaches of the Cimarron River in Oklahoma.

Showers are forecast in the area this afternoon and night.

Seven deaths have been attributed to floods and the toll may go even higher as the Cimarron recedes in northwest Oklahoma.

Two children, a boy, 11, and his sister, 9, were swept off a bridge that collapsed north of Erick. There was a report that a (Continued on Page 2; Col. 2)

'The Body' Puts On First Show, Gets Full Hand

RENO (U)—Curvesome Marie McDonald headlined her first night club show last night with some pretty songs and a display of what she called "elegant sex."

It was difficult for the casual first-nighter to distinguish between the color of Marie and the There were spangles and beads in the appropriate places, however—just like a strip teaser.

Flood Spoiled This Firm's Business

House Slash Seen Backed By Senators

WASHINGTON (U)—The Senate debates a $613,584,290 Commerce Department money bill today. Prospects were a 29 per cent cut already made in it would be sustained.

As approved by the Senate Appropriations Committee, the bill carries $257,928,710 less in new funds than the $871,518,000 requested by President Eisenhower to run the department during the fiscal year starting July 1.

The Senate committee total was $10,100,770 less than allowed by the House.

But this apparent reduction below the House figure was achieved through a bookkeeping transaction. Sponsors of the bill conceded the Senate version actually would permit 25 millions more in spending than the House approved.

The Senate so far has acted on two appropriations bills, Treasury-Post Office and State-Justice, for the new fiscal year.

Both houses yesterday completed action on the Treasury-Post Office bill and sent it to the White House. It was the first of the regular fiscal 1958 appropriations bills to clear Congress.

In action on that measure and the State-Justice bill, the Senate reduced them $714,500 below the House amounts and $182,938,509 below Eisenhower's requests.

Blast, Blaze Razes Plant

CHARLES TOWN, W. Va. (U)—A $250,000 fire following an explosion destroyed the huge grain and flour milling plant of the Peoples Supply Co. here today.

More than 100 firemen from Charles Town, Harpers Ferry and Martinsburg fought the flames for more than two hours before it was brought under control about 10:30 a.m. EDT.

Joseph Warrentz, owner of the plant, made the damage estimate.

Tokyo Is Told Nuclear Tests Will Continue

LONDON (U)—Britain told Japan today its nuclear tests in the Pacific will continue but promised to weigh any claims for damages or losses caused by the bomb blast.

The British replied immediately to a protest note delivered by Ambassador Haruhiko Nishi expressing the "regret" of the Tokyo government at the explosion of Britain's first hydrogen bomb in the Pacific Wednesday.

The Japanese note, handed to the minister of state for foreign affairs, Alan Noble, reserved the right of the Tokyo government to claim compensation.

Noble, a Foreign Office spokesman said, recalled that Prime Minister Macmillan served notice in the House of Commons yesterday that Britain will continue its nuclear tests.

Britain had rejected two earlier Japanese requests that the bomb tests be called off.

Britain contends the tests are necessary to the defense of the free world and that there is no danger to Japan from radioactive fallout.

In Japan, meanwhile, thousands of students in more than 50 cities demonstrated against the British. Ten thousand rallied in a Tokyo park and then paraded past the British Embassy, chanting "Stop the H-bomb" and "Britain—pirate kingdom."

Prober Hits His Actions As Betrayal

McClellan Asserts Teamsters Should Start Own Inquiry

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON (U)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) today urged the giant Teamsters Union to conduct its own "immediate" probe to see for itself whether Dave Beck should be booted out as the union's president.

The chairman of the Senate Rackets Committee told reporters the time has come for the Teamsters to check into weeks of testimony that Beck milked the union of vast sums and his continued refusal to talk about it.

Asks Immediate Action
McClellan said the situation calls "for immediate action on the part of the Teamsters Union to pursue it and make an early determination whether Mr. Beck is worthy to continue to serve in the position of trust and responsibility," he holds.

He said Beck has "flagrantly betrayed" that trust, if sworn testimony to the committee is true "and I have no reason as of now to doubt it."

Other Teamsters officials have given no indication that ouster proceedings or even an investigation will be initiated. However, the AFL-CIO has launched probes of both Beck and the union, temporarily suspending Beck as an AFL-CIO officer.

Beck himself avoided answering questions from Sen. Goldwater (R-Ariz.) during yesterday's hearing as to whether he might quit.

Before taking the witness stand, he told newsmen variously (1) he had "no intention in the world" of quitting, but (2) would give "my serious consideration" to any demand by the union's Executive Board that he step aside for the good of the union.

Beck also gave the committee no information on any of the deals about which it called him for questioning. Instead, he ran to more than 200 his string of Fifth Amendment pleas, replying that answers might tend to incriminate him.

Halls At 52 Questions
His face redder than usual from recent sunburn that was peeling, Beck specifically refused to answer each of 52 questions handed to him in typewritten form.

They represented a summary of instances brought out in earlier testimony in which the committee said he "misused his authority, position and trust" to profit himself, his family or his friends.

McClellan said further open hearings may be held today if arrangements can be made with the attorney for Norman Gersert, a cousin of Beck's wife.

Army Rivals Cause Crisis In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (U)—Provisional President Pedro Aramburu went ahead with plans to begin touring southern Argentina today despite a new crisis within his all-important army support.

Gen. Arturo Ossorio Arana resigned yesterday as war minister. Commodore Eduardo Francisco McLoughlin, who was appointed air minister last month, was named to serve as acting war minister.

Army informants implied that Aramburu had demanded Ossorio's resignation as the result of an intra-army rivalry. The only official explanation of the resignation was Ossorio's statement in his note to the President that "men fighting for the restoration of democracy should be renewed."

Presidential aids said Aramburu would appoint a new minister "in due time" after he returns from Patagonia Monday or Tuesday.

'Peaceful' Atom Menace Cited

Radiation Seen More Harmful Than Bomb Fallout

BROOKHAVEN, N. Y. (U)—Isotopes from the "peaceful" development of atomic energy may outstrip not only that from exposures due to weapons testing and fallout, but even that from the exposure necessary for medical and dental diagnosis, he said.

His talk was prepared for more than 200 United States and Latin American scientists in the "atoms-for-peace" symposium at Brookhaven National Laboratory. The effect on human reproductive capabilities due to radiation from testing weapons "need not cause undue concern," he said. But he said isotopes created in a weapons explosion, lodging in the bones or thyroid glands, "may arouse concern regarding their somatic effects." He cited the possibility of causing cancer, the blood disease of leukemia, and shortening of life.

The problem of disposing of atomic waste products which are still "hot" is growing rapidly, he said. "I have seen it stated on good authority that a 100-megawatt heat reactor will produce annually the same quantity of long-lived fission products as the detonation of a one-megaton fission bomb," he said.

Child Marriages In Dixie Revealed By Court Action

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (U)—Two more marriages involving young brides—aged 12 and 13—were disclosed here following publicity over court action against Harold Graves and the parents of his 13-year-old bride.

Graves, 17, who was scheduled to be graduated from high school last night, and his bride, the former Sandra Spearman, remained separated yesterday on order of Municipal Judge M. C. Lewis.

Lewis fined Graves $50 and assessed a similar amount against the girl's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Spearman, for contributing to the delinquency of a minor. Lewis said he would bring more serious charges against Graves if the couple continued to live together. Each returned to parental homes after the court action.

It was disclosed yesterday that two other young girls were married in Greenville and one has been living with her 35-year-old husband for the past six months in Mountain Pine, a logging community 12 miles northwest of here. Cecil Jones, 16, and the former Linda Fern O'Neal, who will be 13 in August, were married April 29 in Greenville with parental consent, parents of the couple said.

Baby Pulled From Pool, Surgery Proves Futile

FORT WORTH, Tex. — His puppy and a split-second decision by the family doctor prolonged the life of a 15-month-old boy after he was pulled seemingly lifeless from a steam-covered fish pond behind his home.

But the tot, Stevie Grant, died some eight hours after an emergency operation was performed to restore heartbeat.

Stevie was found floating in the pond by neighbors who heard the frantic barking of his dog Ginger, a rust-colored cocker spaniel. The dog was tugging at Stevie's rompers.

The boy was given artificial respiration by his grandmother while an ambulance was called. The doctor who delivered Stevie to Mrs. R. F. Grant immediately made an incision in his chest and massaged his heart until it started beating again. Doctors estimated it had been stopped for about 10 minutes.

"We tried to get the owner to cover up that pond," said his grief-stricken mother. "We knew something like this would happen but the lady said she wanted the sun to shine on her lilies."

Officer Held On Charge Of Plane Theft

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — The FBI has reported that Army 2nd Lt. Donald B. McCoy, charged with stealing a $6,500 airplane here May 6, surrendered to FBI agents at Dover, Del.

The plane crash-landed near Ocala, Fla., and was described as a total loss. It was owned by Paul F. Zimmer of Alexandria.

An FBI spokesman said McCoy, 27, has been absent without leave from the 3rd Signal Battalion at Ft. Huachuca, Ariz. Officers said he came to Beacon Field here May 4 in a rented automobile and told Zimmer he would buy the plane, which he valued at $500.

The FBI said McCoy was in custody of a U. S. marshal at Wilmington, Del., where he was to be arraigned on federal charges of taking a stolen automobile and a stolen aircraft across state lines. He faces a grand larceny charge in Fairfax County, police said.

McCoy's wife and three children are in Dover.

New Technique Locates Congenital Heart Defect

By FRANK CAREY

WASHINGTON — Development of a new technique for accurately locating the most common kind of congenital heart defect was announced today by the Public Health Service.

The new method is designed to pinpoint the location of holes that let blood leak from the left to the right chambers of the heart. It involves injecting a dye chemical into the left side of the heart and then measuring its concentration and the time it takes to pass through tiny arteries of the carotid.

In a paper prepared for the annual meeting of the American College of Cardiology, a team of scientists from the National Heart Institute said "conventional techniques, involving the sampling of blood from right heart chambers, sometimes fail to provide sufficiently accurate pre-operative information."

The carotid was chosen as a measuring spot because light can be passed through it. The passage of the dye affects a beam of light which trips an "electric eye," thus giving a measurement of the dye.

The government scientists said such measurements can be used to locate with exactness the position of any defect between the heart chambers, thus facilitating surgical repair.

Declaring that such defects may cause the heart to overwork and ultimately fail, if not repaired, the scientists said well over 1,000 persons, most of them children, die every year in the United States from such causes.

The dye in the new technique is injected into the left heart chambers — the side containing newly oxygenated blood which ordinarily is pumped into the body's tissues. If there is a defect in the partition between the left and right chambers, some of this left-side blood will flow into the right chambers whose functions is to

Middies' Commencement Set At New Field House

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — The Naval Academy's 117th commencement exercises will be held June 7 in a new $4,500,000 field house which is due to be dedicated just two days before the graduation.

The spacious building covers an area of 350,000 square feet and can seat about 11,000 spectators for the commencement. The building represents the first major construction at the academy since 1941.

This year's graduating class will total 848 midshipmen, the largest class since 1934. Of the new officers, 568 will go to the Navy, 208 to the Air Force and 63 to the Marine Corps.

Another seven midshipmen will be graduated but not commissioned because of physical reasons and two foreign nationals will be commissioned in the Peruvian and Philippine navies.

The graduation will climax the traditional June week program of parades, reunions, athletic and social events. June Week will get started with a dress parade on June 1. Three other dress parades are scheduled during the week, including the June 6 color parade honoring the top midshipman company.

Nuclear Tests

ANYONE CAN appreciate the deep concern felt by the Japanese over the problem of radioactive fallout from nuclear experiments conducted by the United States and the Soviet Union. When Russia tests a nuclear device, our information is that it generally happens in the Siberian wastes where winds can easily carry some of the fission by-products over the vulnerable Japanese islands. When we test atomic or hydrogen mechanisms in the Pacific, the tricky winds also can on occasion take radioactive substances westward toward Japan. There would seem to be somewhat less danger from American tests in the Nevada desert.

NEVERTHELESS the Japanese formally requested this government not to conduct its scheduled 1957 tests in Nevada, and we have now sympathetically, but firmly, turned down that request. Our principal reason had to be, as always of course, the fact that the Soviet Union is not canceling its own experiments. So long as this is the case we dare not cease testing. For in this complex field, constant experiment is vital to the maintenance of our nuclear lead over the Russians—a lead which most free men acknowledge is the chief deterrent to war. In addition, we can assure the Japanese in all honesty that this year's tests will feature exclusively "low-yield fission devices" which will not add significantly to radiation levels throughout the world.

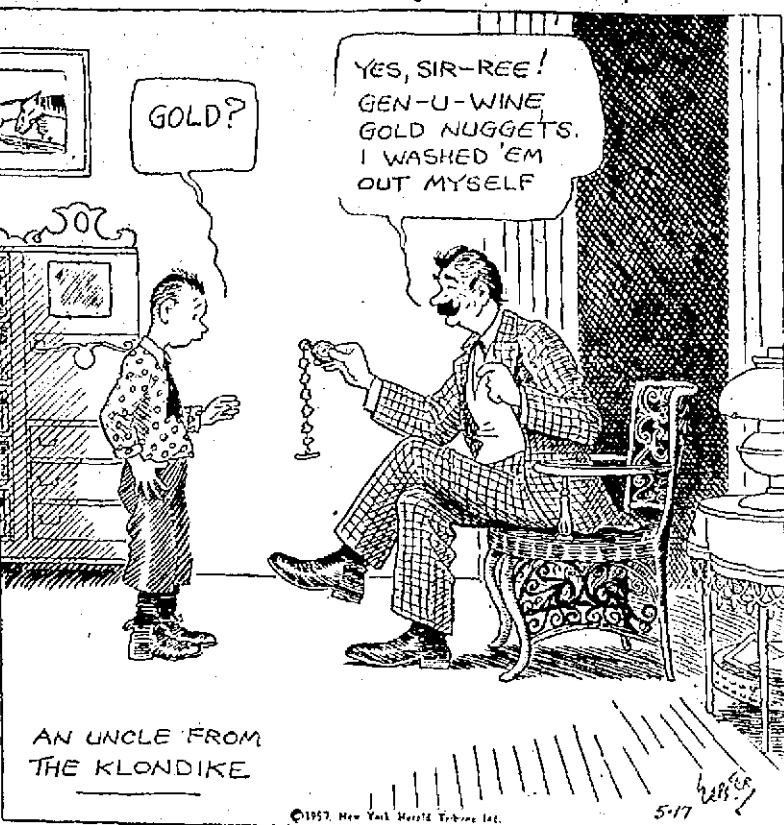

AS A MATTER of fact, our concentration in the last two years has been upon devices which would accomplish the destructive purposes of war while minimizing the dangerous fall-out accompaniment. Much progress already has been made in that direction and much more can perhaps be expected in 1957. Above and beyond this consideration, we have told the Japanese that all tests will be undertaken only after "extreme safety measures" and in the most favorable weather conditions. Until the Kremlin comes up with a sincere and genuinely practical nuclear disarmament proposal which will safeguard all free men, there is hardly anything else we can tell the Japanese or anyone at all on this subject.

Key To Attitude

ACCORDING to U. S. News and World Report, a French official said privately to an American journalist that American officials "don't realize that a leader can put 30 Communists in jail and still be in Russian hands." While the Frenchman was speaking specifically in relationship to Egypt and Nasser, his comment is applicable to other countries and should be taken to heart by many Americans. Local Communists are always expendable to the Kremlin leaders, and if it suited their policy in penetrating more deeply into the Middle East, they would not care if Nasser threw every Egyptian Communist into jail or even shot them wholesale. Americans often interpret the ideology of the Russians literally and fail to comprehend the cynicism of the Russian leaders. The men of the Kremlin are fixated on preserving and expanding Russian power, not on stimulating revolutions according to the model of the French Revolution or the March Revolution in Russia of 1917. Again and again in the past, they have sacrificed national Communist leaders and dealt with reactionary leaders who jailed and killed Communists. It is important to remember that the men who were the accomplices of Stalin, the dictator who signed a non-aggression pact with Hitler's Third Reich, have no concern with the fate of any individual foreign Communist unless the latter serves their aims. The key to Nasser's attitude on Communism is not what he does with Egyptian Communists, it is what he does in relationship to Soviet Russia and whether or not he supports and falls in line with Russian foreign policy. If 100 Egyptian Communists in jail would foil the American State Department about Russian aims, Khrushchev would even help put them in a Nasser hoosegow.

The Thrill That Comes Once in a Lifetime

Thomas L. Stokes As Lame Duck, Ike Has Tough Row To Hoe

WASHINGTON—Seldom has a President gone to the people to bring pressure on Congress with as many obstacles as those facing President Eisenhower.

The parallel that comes to mind is the last Republican President, Herbert Hoover, who was totally unsuccessful. A significant similarity is that each, politically speaking, came to the Presidency as an "outsider."

One came from business, though with long administration experience in the Cabinet, the other from the Army. Neither had a background of practical political experience which President Eisenhower is finding a hindrance right now, as Herbert Hoover found out a quarter of a century ago.

While the big Eisenhower budget is the immediate issue, it has become the issue in a much bigger battle. That is the battle for control of the Republican party.

IN THAT battle the real arena now is not "the people" to whom the President appeals, but the party in Congress, which is not inclined, if the present mood of beligerent independence is properly gauged, to concern itself much with what a lame duck President says to the voters over its head.

On the budget, as on other issues, the party in Congress has the power to shape Republican policy through its record. If the party in Congress continues along its present course of balking at the President's program, it is at the same time undermining "modern Republicanism."

Synonymous of the prevailing mood in Congress, among both Republicans and Democrats, was the vote of the Senate Appropriations Committee, on the eve of the President's budget appeal, to cut $15.9 million more off the budget of the United States Information Agency.

On top of a previous cut of $59.1 million by the House, this would leave him with $90.2 million, as contrasted with $141 million recommended in the Eisenhower budget, if sustained later by the Senate. Come the 1960 Republican convention, it is possible that the wing of the party with which President Eisenhower identifies himself could win there, as it has won every convention in recent years. But if Old Guard Republicanism continues to be dominant in Congress, as it has been for years, it will give the party that coloration again before the people.

THAT SORT of Republicanism, as we know, lost favor with the public a long time ago. And Republicans were able to recapture the White House only when they went outside the party for a popular war hero to carry the banner and concealed the party behind that glowing front. The general, however, will no longer be available in 1960.

The aim of the Eisenhower wing to "modernize" the party depends upon getting enough of the Eisenhower program through Congress to give the party a "modern Republican" look. Here the President and his wing are under several handicaps.

One is control of Congress by Democrats who are bent on making the Administration look bad before the public. Another is the obvious weakening of the President's influence with his own party due to the constitutional hand against another term.

A third handicap is the lack of support on some issues, notably schools and some foreign policy matters, by the party's leader in the Senate, William F. Knowland of California, who is running for President himself and, in courting the conservatives, is striking at "modern Republicanism."

AS THE President tries to improve his position in Congress, he confronts an apathy based on his failure to cultivate his party there. Now he and his Administration are looked at from congress is seen in the reaction of a young "modern Republican," Representative Peter Frelinghuysen Jr. of New Jersey, in his "most recent 'Washington Letter' to his constituents, thus: "Justified or not, there are many rank and file Republicans who feel 'left out of things.' Were those members consulted more often, the Administration might be surprised to find them actually in substantial agreement with Presidential policy. However, when they are ignored and allowed to feel 'unwanted,' such Congressmen become, perhaps unconsciously, vulnerable to arguments opposing the President's program."

For this and other reasons, the President has only a fairly small hand in Congress—and that includes many neophytes—who will make a real fight for him.

SIMILARLY, Herbert Hoover had only a small hand when early in his Administration he got into a fight with Congress over the tariff. The color guard which rallied to his help to try to take the sting out of the famous, or infamous, Smoot-Hawley tariff bill was called "the young Turks," satirically so, for some of them weren't so young.

He found as much trouble trying to go to the people over so involved an issue as the tariff as President Eisenhower is finding with the budget, which is like trying to make an issue of Webster's dictionary or a Sears Roebuck catalogue.

President Hoover's apparent wobbling and indecision brought a wisecrack from the Senate GOP leader of that day, Jim Watson of Indiana, who exhibited his callousness toward the party leader in the White House thus: "How are you going to stand behind a man who has St. Vitus's dance?"

At least President Eisenhower has been spared that!

Fast Tax Write-Offs Have Good Side, Too

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Eisenhower and Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey have now both formally endorsed Sen. Harry E. Byrd's proposal to cut down on the government's fast tax write-offs for private industry with certain specific exemptions.

These exemptions are important, as the example given below will show. But what this program of accelerated depreciation allowances really amounts to is an interest-free government loan which is to be paid back later on.

As secretary of Treasury,

George Humphrey naturally looks with a fishy eye on this kind of financing. But before he came to Washington, the M. A. Hanna interests which he headed used the government's fast tax write-off plan extensively.

Eighteen easily identifiable certificates of necessity granted to Hanna companies gave 34 million dollars' worth of accelerated depreciation allowances on new coal, iron and nickel production facilities having a total cost of 47 million dollars.

THE FEDERAL government has already started collecting deferred taxes allowed in 1930-32. About half of the loss will be recovered by 1974. But it may take another 30 years, or till 2006, to get back the balance.

In the meantime, however, Treasury has to borrow money to make up for the taxes it doesn't collect under accelerated depreciation allowances. And the Treasury has to pay interest on these borrowings. This interest alone, on five billion dollars at 3 per cent over a 20-year period,

Assignment: America

NEW YORK—Three years ago on a heady spring morning, a New Jersey showman named St. John Terrell gave birth to what was subsequently referred to as "a stinko good idea."

He would produce a movie in all dimensions, appealing to the eyes and ears and the overlooked olfactory senses, and would call it "Smell-o-rama."

St. John's thought was to wait appropriate odors throughout the theatre at appropriate times ("suit the smell to the action"), so that customers not only would observe a drama, they would live it—nostalgic and all. If "Smell-o-rama" was successful in a theatre, the producer was ready with a packaged Smell-o set to be distributed by mail as an accompaniment to certain of the smellier type TV programs.

WELL, TERRELL did produce this film, and a great many people sniffed at it. As I recall, the movie had a deplorably thin plot, owing to the fact the principals had to be maneuvered around hay fields, by brush fires, into kitchens, etc., in a highly contrived manner. This was absolutely necessary, as St. John's odors were at the time limited to new mown hay, smoky pine, Chanel No. 5, fresh strawberries and coffee.

The idea might have been an overwhelming success, in spite of this, but it died. The chief reason was that the theatre could not be cleared of one odor before the next odor blew through the ventilators. This meant that during sweet love scenes (Chanel No. 5 was the recurring scent to indicate emotion), there often was a smouldering left-over forest fire scent. And so on like that.

TERRELL strove desperately to save the situation. I'm told, by blowing fresh ozone to get rid of accumulating smells. But the stark odor of pure air was too clinical in character for most fans, reminding them of oxygen masks. And some folks felt cheated when it was pointed out that through 50 per cent of the picture there was no smell at all.

What's Mere $77,000,000?

WASHINGTON—Since 1948 we—meaning the long-suffering taxpayers—have had an Air Navigation Development Board consisting of two stubborn generals.

One of these liked a safety system developed by the military. The other preferred a scheme dreamed up by the Civil Aeronautics Administration. Never did the twain meet. The two members of the board just sat across their double desk and glared at each other.

So we got two separate systems of keeping flying machines from bumping into each other. The cost was downright fabulous.

"I SHOULD say that at least $77,000,000 was thrown right out the window," said Senator Warren C. Magnuson, chairman of the Senate Interstate and Foreign Commerce Committee. "And even that's a very conservative figure. Dollar-wise, this has been one of the worst bumbles in the government."

So the committee now has up a bill offered by the Administra-

not even old stagnant air which one is accustomed to getting in a theatre.

I WAS reminded of this fiasco last week when it was brought to my attention how many products are being deceptively scented these days. At least St. John was honest with his synthetic smells, introducing coffee smells to go with coffee, and perfume to go with women.

In industry today, the idea is to disguise the product as a horse of a different odor. For instance, it seems there now are "new-car" scents being applied to used cars. Now, a "new-car" scent is not pleasant particularly; it is hygienic and plastic and leathery. But research has proven there is a snob appeal in the odor. Makes a man feel he's bought a '58 model when he's actually driving a '50.

FERTILIZER is being scented with mint these days, and ink with fresh fruit smells. Plastic handbags are being made to smell like real good leather, and bank clerks, the up-and-coming ones, are using floral-scented rubber finger-covers to make money take on a sweeter scent. (They're really pushing money these days.)

To make hunting pleasant and profitable, there are odors of doe which may be applied to deer hunters' garments. And chinchilla breeders are smelling up their male animals with after-shave lotion to make the little fellas more appealing to their mates. (Girl chinchillas kill boy chinchillas they don't like. It's traditional.)

GETTING BACK to cars, the frantic manufacturers are putting perfume on white side-walls, to increase sales to ladies. On more masculine black tires, the impregnated odor is "like freshly-polished shoes."

Where this nostrilicious trend will end, none knows but the Being who controls the ozone. If the current Smell-o-rama gets too offensive down here, He may be counted on to blow away the confusion.

Washington Scene

WASHINGTON—After the "Thank you, Mr. President!" had broken up the White House news conference and started a stampede for the door, I found myself elbowing alongside a very learned member of my profession. When we finally got unobscured sufficiently for articulation he asked how I would feel if I had to address the President as "High Mightiness."

"I haven't given the matter too much thought," I confessed. "Why do you ask?" "Well," he said, "this has no bearing on anything that happened today. It is utterly, completely, inappropos. But, do you know, that we came very close to having to address the President as 'High Mightiness.'"

"It must have been the Democrats," I said. "The Republicans are too moderate for an immaturity like that."

"It was the Federalists. They thought the President should have a high-sounding title. The matter was taken up by a Senate committee and it reported in favor of addressing the President as 'High Mightiness.'"

"DOES SHERMAN ADAMS know about this?" I asked cautiously. "I do not consider the question sherman. This was some time ago, when there was an Adams even more prominent than Sher. If you can credit such a deplorable situation. It was in the first Congress, and John Adams was Vice President."

"You mean good old John Adams, a plain New Englander, wanted to foist such a fancy title on the country?" "Well, he presided over the Senate, which considered it. However, the House of Representatives decreed that the head man should be addressed simply as 'the President of the United States' and that mode of address fortunately passed into precedent."

I said it was hard to think of a President of this democratic nation hankering for an aristocratic appellation. My learned friend retorted that George Washington himself was in favor of being called "High Mightiness."

"I don't believe it of George!" I declared. "Where did you get that nonsense?" "It's in the history books," said the erudite one. "The first Speaker of the House, Crutcher Frederick A. C. Muhlenberg, of Pennsylvania, is quoted as stating that the Stadtholder of Holland was then called 'High Mightiness,' and Washington felt he should have the same title."

MY INSTRUCTOR went on: "Muhlenberg said he once joked about it to the President, and for a time, lost Washington's friendship. Among those present was Rep. Henry Winkop, of Pennsylvania, who was a large, commanding figure of a man. The President said to Muhlenberg: 'Well, General, what do you think of the title 'High Mightiness.''"

"Muhlenberg—according to the book—replied laughingly: 'Why, General, if we were certain that the office would always be held by men as large as yourself and, or my friend Winkop, it would be appropriate enough. But, if by chance a President as small as my possible neighbor would be elected, it would become ridiculous.'"

"Who was the 'opposite neighbor,' I asked.

NEW YORK—If you plan to motor in Great Britain this summer, you will be glad to note one driving restriction from the Victorian past has been relaxed.

It is no longer necessary to hire a man with a red flag to walk before your car if you drive faster than two miles an hour.

Another thing you won't have to fear—police speed traps. As a matter of fact, on the open highway the only speed limit is that provided by common sense.

We have all this on the word of two unusual envoys from the land of the Union Jack.

They are representatives of Britain's two automotive organizations—Inspector Leslie Hockaday of the Automobile Assn., and Inspector Frederick Gibbons of the Royal Automobile Club.

The two smartly uniformed inspectors are members of the 3,000-man corps of English "road scouts," hired by the two auto clubs to patrol British highways and help club motorists.

THE ROAD SCOUTS give a stiff-armed military salute to all vehicles bearing the club insignia. Strangers on occasion mistake them for traffic cops.

"New the highway police and road scouts assist each other," said Hockaday. "If we see a fire, we notify them, and if a member car has broken down they often help us fix it."

"Yes," said Gibbons, who has a proud walrus mustache. "We also keep an eye out for stolen cars and smash-and-grab men."

A bit of questioning established that smash-and-grab men are petty dastards who paste a piece of paper to a jeweler's window with treacle, then break the glass noiselessly, grab the gems and run. Awful people. Non-English to the core.

The two inspectors agreed that American motorists abroad behave well and observe the rules of the road. They said they never had personally come across an American-driven car involved in an accident in their country.

OTHER POINTS of polite mutual agreement: London traffic is denser than that of any American city they had seen, and American women drivers are as able at the wheel as men.

Since there are certain language barriers, here is a guide they offer to handle the difference in motoring terminology in the two countries, the English and then American:

Windscreen—windshield; recelalosed—repainted; components—parts; demister—defroster; gearbox—transmission; bonnet—hood; spanner—wrench; petrol—gas.

One other difference: "I understand there is a saying over here that you can't fight City Hall," said Hockaday, smiling. "Back home you can. You can go into court in a traffic offense case, and, if you've got a good story, get away with it."

"But if your story isn't really good they charge you even more."

Two Projects Will Bolster Gas Supplies

LaVale, North End Will Be Affected By Summer Work

LaVale and North End will be affected by two projects planned by the C&A Gas Company this summer.

Federal Power Commission approval for a 12-inch, mile-long transmission line at LaVale will be asked, and the northern pipeline feed into the Cumberland area will be bolstered.

Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company reported the LaVale job is estimated at $64,900. Improving the C. & A. state line connection north of LaVale will run about $25,000. It won't require FPC sanction.

The two projects will continue a long term construction program here by C. & A., according to G. C. Robbins, district manager.

The new transmission line, together with the upgrading of 4 1/2 miles of line feeding it from the north, is geared to meet increasing natural gas requirements of 13,000 consumers in this area.

Maximum daily deliveries through the utility's feeder line from the north now are 17 million cubic feet. New construction will hike this to 20 million cubic feet.

The present line at LaVale will be used as a distribution pipeline for the community's 1,126 consumers, Robbins said.

He pointed out Cumberland area requirements have shot up 100 per cent since 1945. Heating customers have skyrocketed over 20 times.

Meeting this challenge of tremendous growth in gas demands here were many earlier construction projects, Robbins listed the more important as:

(1) The Keyser-to-Cumberland supply line built in 1952-53 at a cost of $740,000;

(2) A south side feeder pipeline into Cumberland and Pittsburgh Plate Glass' new plant from the Keyser-Cumberland line, $494,000;

(3) Renewing 80 per cent of the extensive belt system for Cumberland, $100,000;

(4) A West Side feeder line into Cumberland from the Keyser-Cumberland supply line, $79,000; and

(5) A Belington Compressor Station which moves additional volumes of gas into Cumberland from West Virginia and Southwest supply sources.

With FPC approval on the LaVale job, Robbins said, construction will start in July. Completion is set for August.

Delaware Methodists Vote To Keep College

DOVER, Del. — The annual Peninsula Conference of the Methodist Church has voted not only to keep open Wesley College, the only Methodist junior college in Delaware, but approved a $1,500,000 improvement plan. Under a plan presented yesterday, the conference will appropriate $750,000, the board of trustees of the college is to raise $250,000 and the alumni an additional $500,000, of which more than $400,000 already has been collected. The money is designed to make the college a first-rate Methodist institution. The decision to keep the college open and initiate the improvement program was unanimous among the various groups, a turnout from last year when there was debate over the issue. The money is to be used for a new administrative building at a cost of $750,000, a dormitory for women, $350,000, payment of a $200,000 debt and purchase of additional property estimated at $200,000. It was disclosed today that Walter S. Carpenter, chairman of the board of the Du Pont Co., a Methodist layman who already had donated $50,000, had contributed another $22,000 toward the college fund. The 84-year-old college is attended by some 225 students.

Errors Make Bad Contract

By OSWALD JACOBY Written for NEA Service

The best that can be said about North's opening bid is that it was a minimum. He would have liked to drop South's two no-trump response but the bid is an absolute force so North grunted his teeth and bid three no-trump.

South's 13 point two no-trump was a minimum also and the combination should have wound up in the soup but fortunately for declarer East and West were in there pitching and they combined to let him make the contract. Things started out badly enough for declarer. West opened the lack of diamonds. Then East made the first mistake. He played low!

South ducked. It would have been silly to win the first lead of that suit.

Now West came through with a real mistake. He continued with the ten of diamonds. East played the queen and South ducked again. East shifted to the ounce of clubs and West won with the ace. He led the king of diamonds but it was too late. South took his ace and played the king and nine of spades. West played low and East was in with the queen.

Since East had no more diamonds declarer claimed the balance of the tricks and his contract.

West had no excuse for not leading the king of diamonds at trick two. His opening lead had clearly shown that he held the ten also and he should have allowed for the possibility that his partner had played low with queen and one.

If West had made this play he would have established his diamonds before his ace of clubs could be knocked out and South would have been down at least one trick.

STC Students Hear Address By Paul Muha

FROSTBURG — Paul Muha, principal of Northern Junior-Senior High School in Garrett County, spoke to Junior High State Teachers College students at their weekly conference.

An understanding of pupils and their backgrounds was given as a most important point for all teachers.

Mt. City National Guard Unit Will Visit Rifle Range

FROSTBURG — Company D, Maryland National Guard unit from Frostburg, will go to Barton's Dairy range for weekend training in rifle marksmanship tomorrow and Sunday, according to Lieut. Robert M. Andres, commanding officer.

The 97 enlisted men of the unit will fire individual weapons through rapid fire, sustained fire and timed fire from different ranges. Weapons to be fired include the M-1 rifle, carbine, and .45 cal. pistol. Range supervision will be conducted by officers and NCO's of the unit. The outdoor range practice will conclude 15 weeks of marksmanship training received at the local armory during regular weekly drill periods.

The Barton's Dairy range is located along McMillen Highway, Route 220, about five miles south of Cresaptown. The range was built several years ago so that National Guard units of the Western Maryland area would be able to receive such marksmanship training.

Lt. Andres announced that the unit has gained six men for the month of April.

Enlistments included James H. Scott, 33 Wright Street, a veteran of World War II who enlisted with charge from the Regular Army. He is a teacher in the Industrial Arts Department at Valley High School.

Other enlistments include John Duckworth, a junior at Beall High School, Ormond Street; William Weiner, truck driver, 17 Mt. Pleasant Street; John Havenscroft, a junior at Beall High School; Donald Pressman, employed at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company and a veteran of World War II with three years service, and Donald Fliegler, who was transferred from Battery A, 110th Field Artillery, Pikeville.

Under a new policy, a new man enlisting in the National Guard will receive a mandatory active duty training period of six months, however, during a transition period until October 1 enlistees under 18 1/2 years of age will be required to undergo an active duty basic training period of only 11 weeks. They may elect to take the six months program if they so desire.

Men interested in joining the Frostburg unit may contact Warrent Officer Arnett J. Arrington at the armory any week day between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m., or may attend the unit's weekly drill every Tuesday from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the Frostburg Armory.

Military To Be Honored

The Armed Forces Day parade will get underway at 11:30 a. m. tomorrow in the vicinity of the State Armory with Thomas F. Conlon Sr., as marshal.

Other units include:

State and city police, Marine Corps Color Guard, Fort Hill High School band, Army Reserve members, drum and bugle corps of Fulton Myers Post 153, American Legion, Sixth Special Infantry Company, USMCB, drum and bugle corps of Henry Hart Post 1411, VFW and also U. S. Naval Reserve members.

Mayor Roy W. Eves and the City Council have been invited to view the parade from City Hall. Members of a Military Police company, according to Conlon, will be stationed at all street intersections.

The route of the parade will be along Union Street to George to Baltimore to Centre to Market to North Mechanic south to Baltimore and up the "main stem" to George Street and back to the Armory where it will disband.

A highlight of the day's activities will be displays of military equipment on the lawn of the Post Office. The Army Reserve plans a display of communications equipment which will include a field radio set, a switchboard with two field telephones, panel displays and posters.

Sgt. Harry C. Larrimore, recruiter, announces there will also be a 57 mm recoilless rifle, a 32 gauge riot type shotgun and "dummy" bombs.

The Marine Corps unit will have a display of weapons on the lawn with a member of the unit present to explain the equipment. A loudspeaker system will be set up in order that military music may be played during the exhibit from 8:30 a. m. until 9:30 p. m.

In case of inclement weather the Marine exhibit will go on display in the gymnasium at the headquarters on McKaig's Hill. "Open House" will be held at the various Reserve headquarters.

Lt. Cmdr. Gordon McRae, commanding officer of the U. S. Naval Reserve Armory here, is in charge of arrangements for the Armed Forces Day program.

LaSalle Scholarship Examinations Slated

Eighth grade boys will take an examination tomorrow at 9 a. m. at Carroll Hall for scholarships. Two four-year scholarships to LaSalle High School will be awarded as a result of the examinations.

Ordination Of Local Man Set May 25

James Burns, 210 Cumberland Street, who will be ordained a priest Saturday, May 25, in Baltimore, will celebrate his first mass the following day at St. Patrick's Catholic Church here.

The solemn high mass will begin at 8 a. m. Rev. Mr. Burns will be among a class of about 10 from the Baltimore Diocese who will be ordained at the Cathedral by Archbishop Francis P. Keough.

The officers at his first mass here will be Rev. John U. Lyness, assistant pastor of St. Patrick's, who will be assistant priest; Rev. Robert F. Hopkins, assistant pastor of St. Mary's, deacon, and Rev. Arthur W. Rastress, assistant at St. Patrick's, sub-deacon.

Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's and rural dean of Western Maryland, will deliver the sermon. Following the mass the newly-ordained priest will give his blessing individually to those in attendance.

Monsignor Kilkenny will be host to a breakfast for the new priest, his family and close friends, which will be held at the rectory after mass.

During the afternoon a reception will be held at the Social Center from 2-p. m. until 4 p. m. for parishioners and friends.

Burns, who is a native of Cumberland, received his elementary education at St. Patrick's Parochial School and graduated from LaSalle High School in 1948.

While in high school, he was active in Glee Club affairs. After graduation he entered St. Charles College in Catonsville and finished his studies toward the priesthood at St. Mary's Seminary, Roland Park, Baltimore.

A member of Cumberland Council 586, Knights of Columbus, he was instrumental in organizing the Casey Chorus a number of years ago.

The chorus of about 15 voices has become a popular singing group at the local council home and has programs on various occasions especially during the holidays.

Rev. Mr. Burns is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Burns, who will be accompanied by a number of friends to the ordination ceremony.

Webworms Reported In Eckhart Section

Webworms on apple and cherry trees in the Eckhart area have been reported to William H. Johnson, district forester.

The forester said the webworms, sometimes incorrectly called tent caterpillars, may be burned off with smudge pots or sprayed although spraying should have been done earlier.

Flood Wall Below Bridge Started

The first section of footer for the new flood wall along the west bank of Wills Creek below the Baltimore Street Bridge was poured yesterday by the Hazelwood Construction Company. The footer will serve as the foundation for the vertical wall which will extend from the bridge to the mouth of Wills Creek. The temporary traffic bridge, which is about a third completed, will rest on the top of the vertical wall.

The first pour was made early last night and concrete finishers worked under floodlights to place the massive slab of concrete. Earlier yesterday, rodmen completed reinforcing the footer which was anchored to the bed of the creek by heavy steel rods. Additional sections of the footer have been formed and will be poured as soon as reinforcing work is completed. When a sufficient length of footer is poured, forming crews will move in to ready forms for the vertical wall. Since the wall immediately below the traffic bridge must be in place before the wooden bridge during the project. The same firm is making good progress on Potomac River Section 2 — the last contract of $18,000,000 project.

Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Corps of Engineers, said the company is locating its field office, equipment, repair shop and storage facilities in the old Community Ball Park area. The Chicago firm this week placed into service a big crane Albrecht Company yesterday which will speed the Section 2 work.

North Branch Road Closed By Project

County Receives Report On Strength Of Narrows Bridge

The North Branch Road in the vicinity of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant will be closed for about a week while the Hazelwood Construction Company is installing a drainage system across the roadway.

C. M. Sanner, an official of the Hazelwood firm, appeared before the Allegany County Commissioners today to obtain permission to temporarily close the road while the work is in progress.

Residents of the area will be able to use part of the new access road into the PPG plant location while the North Branch Road is closed. The access road is almost completed.

The commissioners also received an analysis of the structural strength of the Locust Grove bridge across Wills Creek from the Cumberland Cement and Supply Company.

The company wants to use the structure in transporting heavy equipment into the quarry it operates in the area. The county board asked that the analysis be made and the proposed strengthening of the bridge be outlined before permission for its use is granted.

The analysis was prepared by the Glena C. Hancock firm of architects, Charleston, W. Va. It. W. Haworth was the engineer who made the analysis. Complete data has been given the commissioners and this is being turned over to J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, for checking.

E. T. Beachley Named Head Of PTA Group

Elmer T. Beachley was elected president of the LaSalle School Parent-Teacher Association last night in the school.

Ralph Taylor presided at the election in which these other officers were chosen: Paul A. Buchanan, first vice president; Donald H. Black, second vice president; Mrs. Robert W. Diggs, secretary; and Mrs. Preston C. Fix, treasurer.

The officers were installed by Robert Jones, member of the faculty of Frostburg State Teachers College.

The new president appointed the following committee chairman:

Fall project, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Kammann; spring festival, Mr. and Mrs. Henry K. Duke; home room parents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Paulman.

Playground, Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey M. Sanner; building, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Hall; safety, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Barb; health, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Farber.

Hospitality, Mr. and Mrs. Paul G. Angie; publicity, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Irwin; publications, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Brooks; program, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones and Miss Mary Straw.

Membership, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Loar; budget, Mr. and Mrs. Preston Fix, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Black.

It was voted that a farewell gift should be given the school by the sixth grade instead of an achievement award.

Miss Anne Dixon's first grade won the attendance award. Refreshments were served by the first grade mothers.

The speaker after the election was William Donahue, vocational guidance director from Allegany High School.

Chief Judge George Henderson has signed an order in Circuit Court suspending the four-year term in the Maryland penitentiary imposed on Raymond Gallagher on March 18 in connection with a check passing scheme in which several other men were involved.

The order stated that Gallagher would have to refrain from intoxicants, cannot own or operate an automobile, and must not associate with David Gallagher, Glenn Stouffer and Alfred Cannon who were involved in the bad check scheme.

The three men mentioned also received prison terms. The men passed a check at Ruth's Tavern with Stouffer doing the actual check passing while the others were involved in the scheme and shared in the loot.

The order states that the suspension becomes effective June 15. Raymond Gallagher is at the penitentiary.

Murder Charge

BALTIMORE (AP) — Meandrow Bunch, 36-year-old porter at the Deutsches Haus, has been charged with murdering Heinz Meymann, 70-year-old president of the German-American restaurant and social hall here.

SITE OF CAPTURE — This is the Windsor Hotel as it looked in the 1880s and just about the way it appeared in 1865 (then known as the Barnum Hotel) when Gen. Benjamin F. Kelley of the U. S. Army was captured in his bedroom by a Confederate troop known as McNeill's Rangers from Moorefield. The over-head bridge on the left passed over George Street and connected with the St. Nicholas Hotel where the McMillen Building stands.

Byrd Begins His Campaign For Governor

Calls For Democrats To Adopt Program To Offer To Voters

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland Democrats are at it again. Without a shadow of a doubt, the party today is involved in a candidate-rich struggle which has as its goal the nominations at stake in the next primary election—still one year, one month and six days away.

Dr. H. C. Byrd last night opened his campaign for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination with a scarcely a ripple on the political waters.

See Barometer

State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, an announced candidate for the same nomination, suggested that the Annapolis Municipal election next Tuesday is a barometer which will predict the party's future.

A member of the Democratic Youth faction suggested Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert as prime gubernatorial contender.

And a party sage, State Sen. Louis N. Phipps of Anne Arundel County, said: "I sometimes wish we had a boss. . . . A good boss would be a blessing to the Democratic Party. We have not had a good boss and a victory since 1938."

Dr. Byrd, former University of Maryland president who was the unsuccessful Democratic gubernatorial nominee in 1954, addressed his initial speech this campaign to about 40 persons at a Third District Independent Democratic Club meeting here.

Byrd Wants Program

"I doubt very much if the (Democratic) party has any program now," Byrd said.

He said Democrats should work out a program "so we can tell the people here's what the Democratic Party stands for," and then work to make the program effective if the party is victorious.

He criticized Republican Gov. McKeldin's budget as "so far beyond what we could see ten years ago that it is time we began to look at it in a realistic way on a cold-blooded basis of whether the cost for each service is justified."

Byrd urged party unity, saying: "Let's get together, work together, and stay together."

It was State Sen. William S. James of Harford County, who suggested Sybert for governor.

"If the Democratic Party expects to win the general election," he said, "it must elect men in whom the people have confidence. In order to get such men, it must go to the younger elements of the party for candidates."

James Might Run

James said he might seek the Democratic nomination for attorney general, providing Sybert doesn't seek re-election. He proposed Sybert for governor and State Sen. John Grason Turnbull of Baltimore County, a leader of the party's younger set, for the U. S. Senate.

This gave rise to speculation of a slate rounded out by Senate President Louis Goldstein (D-Calvert) for comptroller. Goldstein has said he probably will seek state-wide office, but hasn't decided which one.

Comptroller Tawes, who wants a promotion to governor, spoke at a meeting in Annapolis on behalf of Democratic candidates in next Tuesday's municipal election.

With scarcely a reference to the Statewide campaign, Tawes said the Annapolis election "is the first election since the adjournment of the Legislature and in my opinion a very important election."

"If Annapolis turns in a great Democratic victory," Tawes said, "it will overflow into the rest of the state because Annapolis is the state capital."

Other speakers at the meeting, attended by about 200 persons, included Rep. Lanford (D-Md.), Goldstein and Sen. Phipps who expressed his wish for a party boss.

Work Advances On Two Fields

The Recreation Department, with cooperation of trucks and workmen from the Street Department, is filling in the outfield of the Thomas S. Post Playground ball field.

Dirt is being obtained from Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company site, according to Gene Mason, acting rec director. Mason said the outfield section has never been in good condition.

The area will be smoothed and rolled to make it playable during the summer. In the fall it will be seeded and regularly maintained by the city.

Work on the erection of bleachers at Penn Avenue field is also underway, Mason said. One of the bleachers involved will seat 1,500 and another 500. These are to be used, in addition to regular ball games, for the PTA festival at the school next week.

Mason said that the South Cumberland Business Men's Association will provide volunteer labor next week to make temporary repairs to the Penn Avenue fence in connection with its Fun Fair to be held there beginning May 27.

Tin Company Worker Dies In Hospital

A former employee of the N. & G. Taylor Company (tinplate mill) here, Robert Hall Scott, 65, of 4909 Falt Avenue, Baltimore, died this morning in Johns Hopkins Hospital.

Mr. Scott came to Cumberland in 1913 and was employed by the firm until the plant was closed by Republic Steel Company in 1937.

He had been superintendent of the tin house for the Taylor firm when he was transferred to Warren, Ohio, as superintendent of the tin house for Republic Steel there.

Mr. Scott resigned in 1939 to go with Crown Cork and Seal Company in Baltimore as superintendent of the tin house, a position he held until his retirement on his 65th birthday November 17.

He and his family resided in LaSalle for a number of years before moving to Warren.

He is survived by his wife, the former Hortense Coleman of Elk Garden; a son, James Robert Scott, and a daughter, Mrs. Betty Dietrich, all of Baltimore.

A native of Philadelphia, he was a member of Ohr Lodge, A.F. and A.M., while residing here. He transferred to Highland Lodge in Baltimore. He also belonged to Cumberland Lodge, 271, L.O.Moose.

The body will be at the Moran Funeral Home, Potomac and East Baltimore streets, Baltimore.

Republicans Making Plans For 1958 Race

Candidates Not Topic; Leaders Admit GOP Faces Hard Fight

BALTIMORE (AP) — Maryland Republicans, who won't have two stalwart vote getters topping next year's general election ballot, gathered today to map preliminary plans for 1958.

Next year's election, GOP leaders readily admit, will be tougher than the 1956 campaign.

Since 1953 is an off-year election, President Eisenhower won't be on the ticket. And Gov. McKeldin is barred by the State constitution from seeking a third term.

Discuss Situation

Without these two vote attracting names on the ballot, the Republicans must find by next spring candidates for governor, U. S. senator, seven congressional seats and members of the General Assembly.

But D. Eldred Rinehart, chairman of the Republican State Committee, said candidates would not be discussed at today's meeting. "We'll discuss the political situation in the state and try to find out how we stand in the various subdivisions," he said.

He said there is no significance in the fact that the meeting is being held while Gov. McKeldin is out of the country.

"We tried to get together several times while the governor was here," Rinehart said. One reason the meeting is being held now instead of after McKeldin returns from Europe May 27 is that Maryland Republicans are to take part in the GOP National Committee's regional conference in New Jersey May 24 with Republicans from New York, Delaware, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

Butler May Run

"We felt we would be better able to report on the current Maryland situation at Trenton if we held our state meeting at this time," the state chairman said.

While no formal discussion of candidates was planned, the subject was almost certain to crop up informally.

A rumor has been circulating that Sen. Butler, who won re-election to a second 6-year term last year, may be interested in leaving the Senate to run for governor next year.

Others mentioned as likely gubernatorial candidates are Rep. Devereux; Avery W. Hall, Salisbury insurance executive and former State Road's Commission member; Frank Small Jr., former congressman and commissioner of motor vehicles; and John Derr, 46-year-old mayor of Frederick.

ALL DRESSED UP — Clerks in a number of stores are going all-out in their cooperation to make Cumberland's Old Fashioned Bargain Days a big success by lending atmosphere to the sales in dressing in styles of years ago. The Cumberland Retail Merchants Association is offering $1,000 in prizes for the top old fashioned costumes—and the contest is open to store employees as well as the public. Judging will be done from photographs to be taken by a roving photographer today, tomorrow and Monday, the days of the sales. The picture above shows three well known store employees ready to make their bids for prizes. Left to right are Mrs. Julia Hotchkiss, Elwood F. Foltz and Mrs. Hettie (Scarlett O'Hara) Martin, the latter a real transplanted rebel from Augusta, Georgia.

LaSalle Men To Pick Top Lay Leader

Western Maryland's outstanding Catholic layman will be selected and honored Sunday morning at the annual Men of LaSalle communion breakfast.

The breakfast program will be held in the St. Patrick's Social Center following the 8:30 mass at St. Patrick's and the committee on arrangements, headed by Brother Nicholas, F.S.C., moderator of the group, is making arrangements to accommodate 150 guests.

Pastors of the 11 Catholic parishes in the Cumberland tri-state area will each submit one name to the selection committee, and the award winner will be announced by Raymond T. (Pat) Farrell, committee chairman.

The award, the first of its kind in this area, will be a gold crucifix, about 18 inches high, mounted on a maple base.

John J. Long, immediate past president of the Men of LaSalle, will serve as toastmaster. Honor guests will include Mayor Thomas D'Alessandro, of Baltimore, who will be presented for a short talk by former Judge William C. Walsh. Members of this year's graduating class will also be honored.

Brother Francis Philip, who was stationed at LaSalle High School here about 1948, will be the principal speaker. He is now serving as professor of English at LaSalle Hall, Ammanville.

Land Dispute Award Made In B&O Case

The John Long heirs were awarded $4,375 yesterday by a jury in Mineral County Circuit Court at Keyser for 2.06 acres of land in the Pattersons Creek section. The action came after testimony in a condemnation suit brought by the B&O Railroad Company to obtain the tract.

The verdict was considered surprising by many court observers in view of the fact that the reason the case was in court was because the B&O considered a previous commissioners' award of $3,000 as excessive.

The railroad is seeking the land to extend and grade its right-of-way just east of Pattersons Creek. Involved was one tract of 1.32 acres of grazing land and another tract of .74 acres which the railroad claimed had been covered with fill and ballast for more than 20 years, and the title to which was in dispute.

After hearing 17 witnesses on both sides for less than two days, the jury took slightly more than seven hours to reach a verdict. The jurors deliberated for about 40 minutes Tuesday afternoon after getting the case. Then deliberations were resumed yesterday with the verdict being announced about 3:30 p. m.

During the course of the testimony, Herbert Long, one of the heirs, said he considered the land worth $6,300, which was the apparent amount the Longs were asking.

Attorneys James H. Swadley, Jr., Keyser, and William Doubt, of the B&O legal department, represented the railroad, while Attorneys Howard P. Shores, Keyser, and Ralph Haines, Romney, represented the Longs.

No indication has yet been made that the railroad would appeal the verdict to the West Virginia State Supreme Court.

Vault Room Work Planned

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners today authorized specifications to be drawn up for a ventilating system for the vault room at the Court House which is being used by the Assessing Department.

There are no windows in the room and county employees who work in the room must do so under uncomfortable conditions. The specifications will be drawn by John Trostle, local air conditioning and heating contractor.

The commissioners received a request from Simon F. Pifer for repairs on the Wagner Road near his property. The matter was referred to J. Walker Chapman, roads supervisor.

The board also approved an order of the County Health Department in which a property owner at Corriganville was given 15 days to eliminate the seepage of sewage onto the highway.

An employee of the Consolidated Engineering Company, he had X-rays taken yesterday of his right shoulder, skull and spine for injuries sustained when he was struck by falling steel at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company plant.

Dispute Over Bill Aired In Local Court

Man Seeks $25,000 Damages; Case Moved From Hagerstown

Testimony in a $25,000 damage suit brought against a Hagerstown policeman for malicious prosecution was started today in Circuit Court before a jury. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris is presiding. The case was removed here from Washington County.

Thomas M. Miller, who operates television sales and service business, is asking the damages from Norman Gerberich, who also has a TV business in addition to his law enforcement job.

The dispute all began with a bill of $6.07 which was paid by Mrs. Alice M. Cox, of Hagerstown, who is a third party defendant in the case. Mrs. Cox today testified on behalf of Miller.

Paid At Business Site

Miller's place of business had been used by Gerberich up until four months before the bill-paying incident occurred. Mrs. Cox testified that she went to the store in the belief that she was at the Gerberich business place to pay the $6.07 bill. At the time, she said, Miller was busy with several customers, and he marked the bill "paid in full" and took the money.

Later, she said, a service man for Gerberich called at her home to collect the bill. She said she had paid it. After describing where she went and the man to whom she had handed the money, the service man informed her she had gone to the wrong business place.

She said Gerberich then came to her home and told her that Miller denied she had paid him the money. Then Gerberich said he would take her to Miller's place, she testified, but on the way he said: "First we'll see the magistrate."

Warrant Obtained

Mrs. Cox said they went to the magistrate's office and Gerberich did the talking. "I didn't know we intended to get a warrant," she stated. She did admit under cross examination by Edward J. Ryan, one of Gerberich's attorneys, that she swore to the warrant before the magistrate.

In his opening statement to the jury Ryan said Gerberich had befriended Miller, who had been in Hagerstown less than a year. Ryan said that Mrs. Cox had sworn out the warrant and that Officer Gerberich told the magistrate that he did not like to serve the warrant in view of the circumstances. He then took it to the police headquarters and gave it to Sgt. Edward Kuhlman. Ryan said Officer Gerberich was then told by the sergeant to serve the warrant with Officer Harry Harde to accompany him.

Miller was picked up and placed in a cell for several hours. At a hearing before the magistrate later he was found not guilty of false pretense in accepting the money from Mrs. Cox. Following this, Miller brought the suit against the policeman claiming loss of business and damages both professionally and personally. He said the story of his arrest was released to the radio and press.

Damage Suits Settled

Two damage suits resulting from injury to infants and their parents, which were filed in Allegany County Circuit Court, have been settled.

A $400 settlement ended a suit brought for Daniel Leroy Braddock, infant, by Jack L. Braddock and Virginia L. Braddock, his parents and next friends, Terra Alta, W. Va., against Edridge H. Guy, 511 Maryland Avenue, Westernport.

The Braddock child, who is three years old, was injured March 31, 1956, while walking along Maryland Avenue in Westernport when he was struck by Guy's car. The settlement was signed by William H. Goppert, attorney for the Braddocks, and James S. Gelly, attorney for the Guy.

A $100 settlement brought an end to another suit brought by Gary K. Davis, infant, by Charles Floyd Davis and Ruby C. Davis, 702 Baker Street, against Theodore Leonard Segmaler, Theodore Segmaler and Herbert B. Higson, all of Williams Road.

Young Davis, a 14-year-old Fort Hill High School student, sustained a cerebral concussion and contusions of the scalp April 1 when he was struck by an automobile being driven by Higson and owned by the Segmalers in the 800 block Williams Street.

The compromise settlement was signed by Gorman E. Gelly, attorney for the plaintiffs, and W. Earle Cooley, attorney for the defendants.

Equity Suits Filed

Bills of complaint in three equity suits have been filed in Circuit Court. They were filed by Evelyn Mae Burkett against Ray K. Burkett, Carl J. Fisher against Helen Davis Fisher and Dolly V. Sweeney against Harry W. Sweeney.

Polly Bergen Stars In Helen Morgan Story

Actress-Singer Bought TV Rights From Lulu Morgan

By ATRA BAER (Pinch-Hitting For Vacationing Jack O'Brian)

NEW YORK (INS) — Polly Bergen's future is bright as a kid genius on a quiz show. Last night on Playhouse 90's "Helen Morgan" production (CBS) she attained the stardom she worked hard for—and partially bought.

As the ill-starred torch singer of the 20s, Polly proved herself to be an exceptionally good singer, an actress capable enough to project genuine emotion into many lines without any emotion whatsoever, and a beautiful gal, which everybody was aware of anyway.

Playhouse 90 started out with five minutes of "technical difficulties" which resulted in sound and no picture.

After these were resolved, the script turned out to be a mixture of both well-coined and well-corned phrases. Miss Morgan's life, however, was corny according to sophisticated standards and filled with improbable coincidences, impossible romances and all the bathos and bathtub gin of that strange decade.

Polly "bought" stardom in a way because she brought the TV rights to the Morgan story from Helen's mother, Lulu Morgan.

While I never saw Miss Morgan, or the inside of a speakeasy, last night created a few vivid snapshots of how things must have been in the glitter-filled era.

I'm told Miss Morgan's life was far more complex than Playhouse 90's version, but the basics were there. The irresponsible father who deserted her mother, her first experience singing at 17 in a speakeasy, the married man who remained the love of her life, the marriage contracted on an alcoholic impulse and the booze that finally claimed her career and her life.

Sylvia Sidney, slim as a teenager, was sympathetic as Helen's mother. Hoagie Carmichael, as Helen's patient and frustrated admirer, was his usual lachrymose self. And Benay Venuta, seen briefly as Texas Guinan, was fun.

Actual reproductions of settings, theatre programs and a couple of newsreel clips were tossed in to add nostalgia.

NBC and Sid Caesar have officially announced what everybody knew all along. After Sid's final show, they'll part company and Sid plans to make an announcement about next season shortly.

ENDS CONTRACT — Television comedian Sid Caesar has ended his 10-year contract with the National Broadcasting Company. The contract had one year to go but NBC regretfully let Caesar go. His programs had received low ratings in recent months. (AP Photos)

247 Drivers Test Course Tomorrow, Race Sunday

By J. SUTER KEGG
Evening Times Sports Editor

Some of the biggest names in sports car competition will battle it out for "fun and glory" in the National Sports Car races here Sunday.

Heading the list of drivers slated for the colorful speed spectacle at Municipal Airport is Carroll Shelby of Dallas, Tex., named by Sports Illustrated as the "Sports Car Driver of 1956."

Shelby, who once raced in England, France, Germany and Italy, in addition to all over the United States, will drive a Maserati 300 S, owned by the John Edgar Enterprises of California.

Record Crowd Seen

Approximately 325 drivers are entered in this year's races, which are expected to attract a record crowd. Last year, more than 40,000 witnessed the eight-race program.

There will be, however, only 247 contestants, according to registration headquarters of the Steel Cities Region of the Sports Car Club of America. Last year there were 278 participants, but there will be no novice races this year as was the case in 1956.

At 10:30 a. m., 39 cars had already passed through the inspection line which is located in one of the hangars. Most of the inspection will be done by this evening, although several latecomers are expected tomorrow morning.

Mandatory practice is set for tomorrow, getting under way at 11 a. m. Drivers will vie for Sunday positions in this phase of the three-day program.

Hansen, O'Shea In Feature
Although Shelby will be the man to watch in the closing feature, the hour-long Edgar Vandergrift Memorial, he should receive plenty of competition from Walt Hansen of Westfield, N. J., who set a record here last year in winning the event with an average speed of 68 m.p.h. in a D-Jaguar.

John Fitch of Stamford, Conn., winner of the International Grand Prix at Sebring, Fla., in 1953, is another "big name" driver entered in the feature. Like Hansen, Fitch will drive a Jaguar belonging to Briggs Cunningham, the millionaire sports car enthusiast.

Cunningham will be driving one of his own racers, a Cunningham C6R, giving him an advantage in numbers.

Paul O'Shea of Rye, N. Y., who won the seventh race the past two years, is entered in the feature this year. He will be driving a Mercedes-Benz 300 SL, owned by George Tilp.

Eight Races Sunday
Eight races are on the program Sunday, the first getting under way at 8:30 a. m. Nine "piston packin' mamas" are entered, in the fourth event, a 20-minute sprint for women drivers. The distant list features Mrs. M. R. J. (Peg) Wylie of Allison Park, Pa., who won last year. Suzy Dietrich of Sandusky, Ohio, third in 1956, is also returning.

The Cumberland Lions Club is co-sponsor of the races with Steel Cities. All profits will go to the Lions' eye-sight conservation fund for Allegheny County children.

Southern Upsets Elk Garden; Jackets Seek Title Monday

Southern High of Oakland, playing only so-so baseball for most of the season, dealt a severe blow to the Potomac Valley Conference title ambitions of Elk Garden yesterday. The Highlanders handed the Stags their first loss, 6-2, at Oakland.

The setback, in the Elks' final game of the season, leaves unbeaten Moorefield with a chance of coping its third straight crown. The Jackets, who haven't been beaten since late in 1954, close out an 11-game slate next Monday in a re-match.

Meet Elks Tuesday
The Elks and Jackets will collide, however, when they meet next Tuesday, 4 p. m., at St. Mary's Field in Keyser. The contest is a semi-final of the Region 4 tourney. Moorefield won last spring, 7-1, then whipped Martinsburg, 3-1, to qualify for the state event at Parkersburg. They lost out in the first round.

Lefty Jerry Wine, Southern freshman, was the pitcher who stopped Elk Garden's "big guns" in yesterday's game. He pitched six innings and left with the score 6-0 in his favor in the top of the seventh. The two men he put on base scored before Reliever Allen Dewitt got the side out.

Cars Roll Through Inspection Line

IN SUNDAY FEATURE—This sleek-looking Mercedes-Benz 300 SL will compete in the feature race Sunday at the Airport. Driving it will be Paul O'Shea of Rye, N. Y., seen behind the wheel as the racer was going through the inspection line this morning. Standing beside the car is its owner, George Tilp.

O'Shea won the seventh race here the last two years in a Mercedes, but the one in which he is pictured was racing Sunday for the first time. This powerful machine, which will be pitted against the D-Jags, Ferraris and Maseratis, was recently featured in "Road and Track" and other publications.

Harney Takes Lead On Great Initial Round

By GEORGE BOWEN

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. — Paul Harney shot the best score of his career, seven-under par 63, and still started the second round today looking fearfully over his shoulder in the 72-hole Sam Snead Golfing Festival.

Within striking distance despite the terrific first round yesterday were two old hands long past being scared off easily, Ben Hogan and Snead, and one of the most promising youngsters on this year's professional tour, Billy Casper.

Hogan, the old scourge getting into his famous concentration mood preparatory for a crack at his fifth U. S. Open next month, was only two strokes behind Harney. Snead and Casper were three back.

Harney Steady
Harney, slender 27-year-old from Worcester, Mass., is playing the tourneys more steadily than ever in his third year of traveling around the circuit. But he still is seeking a major triumph.

The former caddy and Holy Cross College golfer tore into the Old World Course from the start and was four ahead of par 34 by the end of the first nine. He was six ahead by the 12th primarily because of deadly wedge shots that left him puts as short as one inch.

He stumbled for the only time on the 14th when a trap shot cost him a bogey five. He more than compensated for the mistake with two more birdies in the last five holes.

Hogan gave a striking demonstration of why it's still not time to ever count him out despite his 45 years and slackening of tourney competition. After 15 holes, the calculating little Texan was only one stroke to the good of par.

He cleaved four more in the last three holes by sandwiching an eagle three between two birdies.

Snead In And Out
Hogan took a four-wood for his second shot on the 525-yard 17th hole which carries a par five. He whaled the ball 220 yards to the edge of the green and rolled in a 30-foot putt for his three.

Snead, for whom the $10,000 tournament was renamed this year in honor of his 20th as pro of the course, was his typical in-and-out self. He had six birdies, missed short putts for three more and failure to make a couple of three-footers cost him bogeys.

Casper, 26-year-old Californian who has won the Phoenix and Kentucky Derby opens, marched in step with par through the first nine holes and then turned on the steam. On the 342-yard 10th hole he chose a wedge for his second shot 80 yards from the green.

"While I was yelling for it to stop, it rolled into the hole for an eagle," he said.

Two holes later, his drive went out of bounds and he took a bogey six.

But the youngster who has a good start on a figure to match Ed (Porky) Oliver took hold and turned in three more birdies on the next six holes.

Oliver, defending champion of the 10-year-old tourney, won three times by snead and once by Hogan, was one of five out of the 47 starters to hit par 70. Seven of them were under.

STRINGTOWN SEEKS SECOND COUNTY WIN
Stringtown goes after its second straight victory in the County Softball League by meeting Wellersburg on the Stringers' diamond this evening.

Coach Amos See's club edged Corriganville, 3-2, in a close battle to open the season Tuesday. Wellersburg's contest with Burkey's was washed out.

Corriganville hopes to latch on to its first win by tangling with Burkey's on the latter's diamond. Both of today's games start at 6:15.

'Damn Yankees' Smash Hit In Night Clubs, Ball Field

By TONI GALLI

NEW YORK (INS) — Thanks to the magic touch of director Casey Stengel, the cast of "Damn Yankees" not only is a smash hit in New York night clubs but on the ball field as well.

Manager Casey, displeased by the Copacabana notices yesterday, replaced his No. 1 battery of Whitey Ford and Yogi Berra with understudies Bob Turley and Elston Howard and demoted rightfielder Hank Bauer, principal character in the celebrated after-hours brawl, to eighth place in the batting order.

Not only that, but the angered "Professor" filled the air with gloom at Yankee Stadium by indicating he might level some fines against Ford, Berra, Bauer, Billy Martin, Mickey Mantle and Johnny Kucks for whooping it up at a Copa party which might result in a $250,000 suit against Bauer for allegedly socking a patron.

Trade Hinted
There was even talk that Martin and some others might be traded off to Washington this weekend as Martin remained out of the lineup because of a bad leg.

In fact, the only person unaffected in last night's game was Mantle and that's because there is no substitute for the Triple Crown winner.

So what do the Yankees do? Turley, on short notice, completed his first game of the year, striking out eight and pitching a four-hit shutout over Kansas City, 3 to 0.

Mantle slugged his sixth home run, singled and walked twice and the revamped world champs threw in a rare triple play for good measure as they remained within a half-game of Chicago's American League pacesetters.

Turley Fast
Turley, looking faster than ever, started the triple play in the second inning after walking Hector Lopez and Jim Pisoni. Losing pitcher Alex Kellner popped to Turley, who pegged to shortstop Gil McDougald, whose relay to Bobby Richardson covering first completed the trick.

Mantle gave Turley all he needed with his blast into the left-field seats of Yankee Stadium in the third inning. Howard singled behind Bill Skowron's triple for the insurance run in the fourth and Bauer's scoring single in the fifth ended it.

The White Sox won their fifth straight, 8 to 3, at Washington as Cleveland won in ten innings at Baltimore, 4 to 3. Frank Bolling drove in both runs as Detroit beat Boston, 2 to 1, in a day game.

Redlegs Take Lead
Cincinnati broke its first-place tie with Milwaukee in the National League by edging New York, 3 to 2, in ten innings while the Braves were losing to Pittsburgh's Bob Friend, 2 to 1. St. Louis shut out Philadelphia, 5 to 0, and Sandy Koufax struck out 13 Cubs as Brooklyn beat Chicago in a day game, 3 to 2.

Lefty Billy Pierce survived homers No. 7 and 8 by Washington slugger Roy Sievers and another by Jim Lemon to register his fifth victory. Bubba Phillips hit a homer, triple and three singles in five trips for the White Sox.

The Indians tied it up in the ninth inning on a pair of walks and two sacrifices and gave Early Wynn the victory over Baltimore with a tenth-inning triple by Jim Busby and Al Smith's double.

Clemente Belts Homer
The Redlegs came from behind to win their 14th game in the last 15 starts and pass Milwaukee. Gus Bell knocked in the tying run in the bottom of the ninth and another single by Bell pushed a runner to third in the tenth, setting the stage for Frank Robinson's game-winning single off Giants reliever Steve Ridzik. Tom Acker relieved Hal Jeffcoat in the ninth for the win.

Roberto Clemente homered off Milwaukee rookie Juan Pizarro in the fourth and the Pirates scored the winning run in the seventh on hitter.

BACK TO WORK
CHICAGO (NEA)—Ted Kroll traveled 75,000 miles in his 23rd exhibition tour as world golf champion, a title he won in last year's Tam O'Shanter extravaganza. He now goes back to the tournament trail.

Dick Groat's single, a walk and Gene Baker's single, Friend allowed seven hits, including Ed Matthews' ninth-inning homer, to Pizarro's five.

Wally Moon's triple featured a four-run burst by the Cards in the fourth inning which beat Philadelphia's Harvey Haddix. Bonus pitcher Lindy McDaniel shut out the Phils on a four-hitter.

D.A.V. No. 1 2 W

The undefeated teams entering yesterday's games are still that way as the Pen-Mar Little League played its second round last night.

Barreilleville battered Cresap-town, 18-0; LaVale Orioles clobbered Ellerslie, 10-4, and DAV No. 2 edged LaVale Maroons, 6-5. All the winners played on their home diamonds.

A pair of homers by Eddie Bridges and Joe Nolan's tight pitching had given Barreilleville an 18-4 win over Ellerslie Tuesday in a game not previously reported. The Barrels again came up with 18 tallies yesterday as Don Engle flipped a two-hitter and fanned 13.

John Smith paced the 11-hit barrage with a homer and three singles while Nolan and "Ace" Bridges socked two doubles each. Gilt-edged relief pitching by Roger James' and his pair of homers good for four runs featured the Orioles' triumph. Ted Bennett also weighed in with four hits while James Klahre socked a homer for Ellerslie.

DAV shoved over the winning tally in the bottom of the sixth as Ray Stevanus, third DAV pitcher, notched the victory. Stevanus also drew three walks and hit a two-bagger. John Lease and Dave Herschberg had two hits each. Snyder's triple was the big blow for the Maroons.

He explained to a sportswriter that his track suit wasn't very warm in the chilling wind and he was anxious to get back to the warm locker room.

Bauer Facing $250,000 Suit In Night Club Brawl

By HOWARD SIGMUND

NEW YORK (INS)—Rightfielder Hank Bauer faced a $250,000 civil suit and possible criminal action today for the part he played or didn't play in the "Who Slugged the Delicatessen Man?" mystery.

And the ex-Marine and his Yankee night club playmates all faced fines by angered manager Casey Stengel.

While Bauer vigorously denied that he was the slugger who belted Yankee fan Edwin Jones, 40, in a pre-dawn brawl at the Copacabana Thursday and engaged a lawyer to back him up, an irate Stengel moved quickly to discipline his wayward Yankee Doodle boys who "went to town" at the wrong time.

Stengel, who hasn't levied a fine since taking over as Yankee manager in 1949, indicated the players involved in the Copa incident might have to pay extra for their wet-hours entertainment.

To Talk To Front Office
Stengel said he planned to talk to front office officials about the matter and added:

"I generally do something about things like that."

The unscheduled slugfest took place at Billy Martin's 29th birthday party. Helping the second baseman celebrate were Triple Crown winner Mickey Mantle, catcher Yogi Berra, pitchers Whitey Ford and Johnny Kucks and their wives.

Stengel began his punitive program quickly. Before last night's game with the Athletics, he yanked Ford from the starting pitcher's role and benched Berra. The Stengel "magic touch" was still there as Bob Turley blanketed the A's, 3-to-0 and Mantle, in his customary center field spot, homered, singled and walked twice.

Stengel relegated Ford, left-handed ace of the world champs, to the role of batting practice pitcher and said:

"I'm certainly not going to pitch a pitcher who has been up until 2 a. m. and the whole world knows about it."

Bauer Bats Eighth
As for the slumping Berra—Casey's "favorite son"—Stengel said he might have benched him for weak hitting, but added:

"Berra has been around a long time and should know better."

Bauer, who went into the game with an anemic .203 batting average, was lowered to eighth spot in the order and produced a single in four trips to wind up with .205.

Martin remained out of the lineup because of a bad leg and was named as part of a big trade reportedly looming with the Washington Senators.

General manager George Weiss issued a statement which said the Yankees "are convinced that neither Hank Bauer nor any other Yankee player struck anyone."

Jones, meanwhile, was confined to his bed with a broken nose, possible broken jaw and other body bruises. He admitted that he didn't know "who" hit him. He said everybody was drinking and that the Yankee players were "feeling no pain" either.

His brother, Leonard, another member of a bowling club partying at the Copa, insisted it was the muscular Bauer who "socked" Edwin in the kisser.

Duke Netmen Win Doubles Diadem
RICHMOND, Va. (U) — Left Beck and Don Romblit of Duke won the doubles championship in the rain-delayed finals of the Atlantic Coast Conference tennis tournament here yesterday.

Beck and Romblit downed the Maryland team of Dave Freisat and Carl Bucks in the decisive match on the Country Club of Virginia courts 6-8, 9-7, 6-2, 6-4.

Freisat earlier had won the singles championship by defeating a Maryland teammate, Jackson Yang, 6-3, 6-2, 6-3 in a match at College Park, Md., Sunday.

Don Burnham, class of 1944, still holds the Dartmouth mile run record of 4:10.6.

Fight Tonight Rated 'Even'

CLEVELAND — Rory Calhoun, Georgia-born slugger now of White Plains, N. Y., will be out to demonstrate against Joey Giardello tonight in 10 rounds at the Arena that there was no need to find an opponent for Ray Robinson.

"It's all wrong for the International Boxing Commission to bypass a fine group of present middleweights to put Carmen Basilio (welterweight champ) in for a title shot against Sugar Ray Robinson," complains Calhoun's manager, Fred Bachman.

The 22-year-old Calhoun has been fighting professionally since late 1954 and has a string of 27 victories, 14 by knockouts and a lone defeat, a close decision to Spider Webb in Chicago last August.

Giardello, a Brooklyn-born Philadelphia who will be 27 next month, has six more years of ring experience than Calhoun and has won 70 — 23 of them by kayos — against 13 losses.

Rated No. 4 middleweight contender by Ring Magazine and No. 5 by the National Boxing Assn., Calhoun holds the notch above Giardello on both lists. But Joey fights well in Cleveland, where he upset Bobby Boyd last September, breaking Boyd's jaw. And local bettors have been unable to decide on a favorite, wagering at even money.

Rams Batter Bobcats, 17-5

Shepherd College made its record 3-0 against area college baseball competition with a 17-5 rout of Frostburg State yesterday on the Rams' diamond. The winners had beaten Potomac State, 7-2, Wednesday after taking the opener against the Catamounts, 14-10.

Romney's Bob Sirk set the Bobcats down with nine safeties and hurled the distance for the Rams. He was backed by an 18-hit attack against four Frostburg moundsmen with starter Carl Donald taking the loss.

Among the hits by the Rams was a three-run homer by "Ace" Doyle. Donald, John Keister and Hugh Nolan shared six of the Bobcat bingles.

Shepherd will seek a sweep of area games when they invade Frostburg next Monday afternoon. The Bobcats now have won only two of eight starts.

Judges Delay Truck Ruling

BALTIMORE — Three Federal Judges have put off until a later date a ruling on a request for a permanent injunction to prohibit the Interstate Commerce Commission from enforcing a truck leasing regulation.

The ICC last month put into effect an order which required large trucking firms to lease lower-operated trucks for 30 days, instead of the usual practice of leasing the trucks for one or more trips.

Counsel for the small truck operators argued yesterday that the order virtually puts their clients out of business. Counsel also cited an ICC examiners report calling for more thorough study of truck induced highway accidents, for there was no concrete evidence the one-trippers should shoulder the blame.

The ICC, which rejected the examiner's report, said it could not effectively inspect one-trip trucks for safety, and as a result there was a continuing danger of unsafe trucks on the highway.

You don't need a crystal ball or rose-colored glasses to see Cumberland's future!

Cumberland these days is a healthy, happy, and prosperous city. We have had setbacks, have learned from them, and have built the foundation for a bright future for this whole area. Cumberland's merchants with their Old Fashioned Bargain Days are one indication of this surge! This Bank's soon-to-be opened Cresaptown Office is another.

Ninety two years ago, in 1865, this Bank was started at a time of general doubt and uncertainty. Over the intervening years, the Bank has continued to grow in usefulness and service. Baltimore and Liberty Streets—and soon Cresaptown—have indeed become "the corner to bank on for the best in all modern banking services."

In nine decades, this Bank has seen and learned many things. Of them all, one conviction stands out above all others: Policies may change but principles are timeless. This Bank shall continue to follow the principles of strength, stability, and service to our neighbors, to our community.
